

THE 2021 REPORT

TIMELESS LIGHTCODES

By Oracle Brigette

www.lovesteadylife.com

THE 2021 REPORT

TIMELESS LIGHTCODES

By Brigette Cormier

This report is a lightcoded preparation to help you understand the spiritual shifts that are being facilitated by the divine in 2021. These energies effect everyone, however, not everyone is ready to integrate these energies at the same time.

Take your time as you read through this report. write down your favorite parts. If it resonates, keep reading. Don't rush through and if you feel tired, that's usually a sign that you've taken in enough lightcodes and a nap would help the integration.

The themes for this year are centered around claiming your true self, rebelling against the norm, rebuking repression, and learning how to use your 5D powers.

Enjoy!

Vibrational Sovereignty

This year is marked by the collective's entrance into a new vibrational plane of existence. We can now vibrate high enough to experience a frequency that we once couldn't vibrate at. We are energetically supported in raising our vibration and tuning our personal energy frequencies to become spiritually sovereign. Personal growth work holds space for self-awareness, which is the key to facilitating this energy.

In short, this means-

Cool power: Tune your frequency to manifest your dreams.

What comes first: Shadow work

Shadow work refers to the more uncomfortable spiritual growing pains of facing, the part of you that isn't in alignment with your spirit, that dark side, shadow self, the programming, the unconsciousness, as you become aware of it, and choosing to be different to align more with the vibration of your spirit/soul. The growth in the personal growth work comes from shadow work.

As our vibrations rise, the shadow self emerges into the conscious mind to be illuminated as the higher self comes online from within. All components of you will raise in vibration, and some components, like the way you think and your behaviors, will require your conscious choice to change. Whatever is blocking the vibration raising process is going to get called out; either it will happen within yourself as you do your personal growth work, or the universe will align you with someone who will call you out to inspire you into self-awareness.

This year, notice if you see there is a theme of eating “humble pie” or getting called out for being wrong, whether it's from within yourself as internal conflict or from others as feedback, remember it's likely because a higher version of yourself is pushing the old you out to the forefront from within, to be transmuted. We transmute by choosing to face that discomfort, to eat that “humble pie,” to take responsibility, be accountable, and change; that’s how we facilitate our higher selves.

In 2021 the multidimensional quality of our reality is realized collectively, on a personal level. The non-linear, multidimensional quality of our reality is that we each have a multitude of parallel realities existing available to us, some present, some past, some future. The multitude of present and future realities are especially illuminated (available) for us at this time as people begin to take control, take sovereignty, over their minds which results in taking control over their vibrations. Once a person becomes so conscious that they can control their vibration, they’re able to tune it to align themselves with whatever reality, a.k.a. timeline, their heart desires.

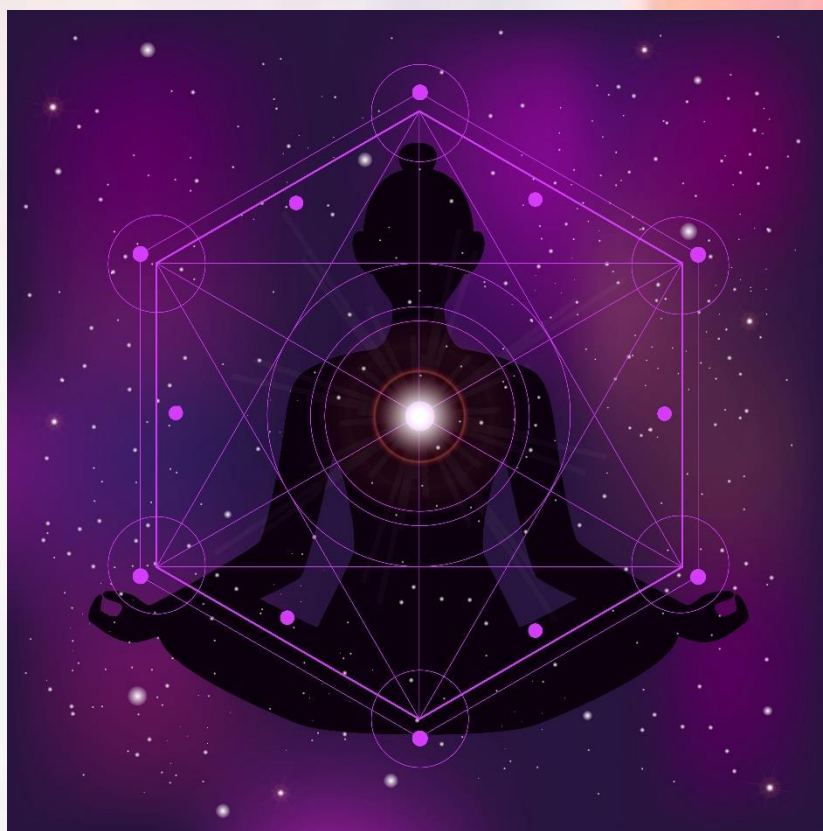

2021 is about aligning with a present reality that is of the soul resonance, the highest vibration we currently have access to. As we raise our vibration, we align with higher vibrational timelines.

The Contagious Frequency of High Vibrations

So we've established that personal growth work leads to our access to higher vibrations in 2021. As we raise our vibrations, we birth new energies into our environments. As we deal with personal issues in a healthy way, and allow ourselves to raise our vibrations, we not only heal our selves and souls, but we also emanate a new, higher vibration into our environments. And everything around us gets access to a higher vibrational potential, like vibrational inspiration; the people around you (whether you're consciously interacting with each other or not) will feel the energies you're giving off. They may be going through something similar or worse to what you just transmuted and raised your vibration from; and because you birthed this new high vibrational energy into your environment (a.k.a. the quantum field) everyone in your environment gets access to the vibrational codes that you brought through. It's divine that the universe aligns us with certain people, whether we realize we interact with them or not, because those people may need the codes, the energy, the vibrations that you're giving off. And this is why I say, you are a portal. A portal, a passageway that takes someone from one place to another. In this case, a vibrational portal.

As you spiritually awaken, you become a beacon, a light that emanates the potential for a higher vibrational reality for everyone. As you begin to experience life in the higher vibrational planes the people around you gain more access as well.

Art created by macrovector_official from freepik.com

The Inner Shift to 5D

The cosmic and divine energies align to bring a collective soul activation, a mental “access” to higher vibrational thoughts and ways of being, that resonate in alignment with the soul. Repressed energy that doesn’t align with the soul that is stored in the body begins to get pushed out to be expressed and transmuted, a.k.a. healed, by this cosmic energy. As these new vibrations become accessible to each of us from within, a collective vibrational shift begins to take place. Some people call this “The 5th Dimension” (5D), a term to represent the collective alignment with a present reality where humans collectively choose to reside in higher vibrational energies permanently, aligned with their spirit... hence why the term “heaven on earth” is also used to describe this dimension. The cosmos bring the energies to activate this reality frequency in 2021.

The humans that are living through this shift from lower to higher dimensions (from “3D” to “5D”), will consciously experience this collective shift on a personal level. Each human will be feeling their souls “come online” to offer them higher vibrations. Some people may be more resistant than others (whether they realize it or not) to the energy that their soul, the higher vibrations, is showing them to heal inside of themselves. Since the shift occurs multidimensionally, those who do not want to shift yet don’t have to.

What those who choose not to shift will notice is, that those who did heed the call of their souls have aligned themselves with lives that flow with a thriving grace and abundance, that they do not have. And those who initially chose not to participate in the inner shift, may end up changing their minds once they see the “proof” in how the lives improved for those who already shifted.

It's divine, and so it's in our nature as humans to participate in this shift of the earth and the cosmos. Because our earthly body is made up of components of the earth and our soul is made up of components of the universe (Source) naturally, our bodies and the universe are related and connected, so as their energies shift, they facilitate us more to shift with them. I don't mean to say resistance to the shift is futile, but I will say resistance is personal repression, and repression of energy is uncomfortable and hinders a person's ability to truly enjoy their life.

Cool power: Your life feels better as you align with spirit.

What comes first: Being OK with not fitting in.

Repression of Personal Expression Exposed

In 2021 people begin to realize how they have been victims to their own personal expression repression, which means they haven't been authentically expressing themselves.

It's one thing to express yourself but what if what you're expressing is out of alignment with your actual self, your soul? There is a chance you could be aligning your choices with your programming, which is the way you've been or are being taught or told by somebody else (and not your soul) to think and behave.

In 2021 we begin to shift our self-expression back to the source, to the self, to the soul. “Fitting in” will slowly become less important because “fitting in” begins to be exposed for its true meaning which is “not living a life that is in complete alignment with your soul”.

Life could feel like heaven on earth, if you're okay with not fitting in, in hell on earth.

This Aquarian Age will awaken the inner rebel in each of us. The confidence and security that is activated once a person is no longer repressing their self to “fit in” and they begin to take control of their own vibration is akin to a personal revolution.

In 2021 we will notice our vibrations shifting, and if we choose to facilitate it then we'll notice the quickness with which our energy does shift when we try. As we activate our lightbodies and release inner energetic repression, our true soul shines. With the soul not repressed, it can be expressed more fully through the self, through our behaviors and thoughts.

Bear witness to your inner ability to tune your personal vibration as it comes online. The ability to control our personal vibrations, this innate sovereignty that we each have, is prevalent now more than ever and cannot be ignored... the universe and the earth are facilitating it already (and so is your body and your soul!). We are truly becoming energetically self-sufficient.

Our power is coming online, the ability to tune our personal energy fields, activating. Naturally we'll begin to experiment with our powers, exploring and witnessing how our own personal vibration affects the reality we're perceiving and interacting with. And as more authentic soul shines through each of us, we begin to manifest compatible realities that truly resonate with the soul, and life feels better and better. With practice, we learn to align with compatible realities that resonate with spirit by choice.

As we experiment with our vibrations, we are learning which realities, which multidimensional timelines are the ones that resonate most with our individual souls, and which do not. If the timeline it manifests doesn't align or resonate with your soul the way you thought it would, keep trying. It's a practice, a honing of your frequency and vibration to consciously learn to acknowledge and exit from what does not resonate while aiming for higher enjoyment and alignment with soul/spirit.

We want our realities to resonate with spirit and feel good for us because when our highest self is facilitated by our environments, we are being loved on by our environments, and we can love them back ~ the connection thrives and further feeds the soul and enhances the quality of experience. It's reciprocal in flow and resonates as "fun times". On the other hand, being in environments that don't resonate with the soul can repress the soul. Environments that don't resonate actively resist our self-expression and energetically work against us. In worst case scenario they force us to use our extra power and energy for survival and self-defense. Your spirit will always revert energy to keeping you alive before it bothers you with shadow work.

Being in or creating environments where your soul can thrive is crucial in this time. You'll know it's in alignment with spirit if you feel your spirit can thrive, rather than feeling repressed. It is our birthright to align with realities where we thrive.

Closing Codes

As you align with higher vibrational realities, life feels better. It feels better because you know you earned it, too. There is an element of action to this integration of higher self into our physical lives. We may feel called by spirit to take up causes, speak our truths, or move to new environments. As we align with new vibrations within, we realize where we can personally do life differently to bring it into better alignment with spirit. I'd recommend trying, even if it doesn't look perfect, to make physical change in your life if you feel it is needed. The universe will fill in the blanks to support your shift.

Remember that when you align with a new reality by raising your vibration, what changes is the timeline that is projected onto your perception. The vibration you choose to emit as you interact with that timeline/reality effects how your physical world enfolds. In 2021 we are given the space to first, gain spiritual sovereignty, and then, learn how to tune our frequencies.

In 2021, your focus becomes the resource that determines if you're perceiving reality from a low or high vibration~ How are you thinking, talking to yourself? How you choose to behave determines what vibration you bring out into the world. When you align behavior with soul vibration you will find it seems like the universe and the earth cater to your needs.

Just because you understand and do shadow work, doesn't mean that everyone around you will. Some adults may choose to project their issues onto you and work against your thriving. This is where you utilize your power of choice to exit their circle or environment, or if it is your circle or your environment, then you establish boundaries to create the change to bring about resonance once more.

I hope you found this report inspiring. Here are a few of my favorite codes~

Bear witness to your inner ability to tune your personal vibration as it comes online.

“Fitting in” will slowly become less important because “fitting in” begins to be exposed for its true meaning which is “not living a life that is in complete alignment with your soul”.

Life could feel like heaven on earth, if you’re okay with not fitting in, in hell on earth.

With love,

Oracle Brigette

<https://lovesteadylife.com>

 Instagram

 Youtube

 Facebook 