December 2021 marks the beginning of a new era; the 5th dimension is live and ready to interact with.

You've already activated the 5th dimension within yourself, and in your home, and now it's time to activate the 5th dimension in the world – all you need to do, is get out there and be your soulful self, in the present moment.

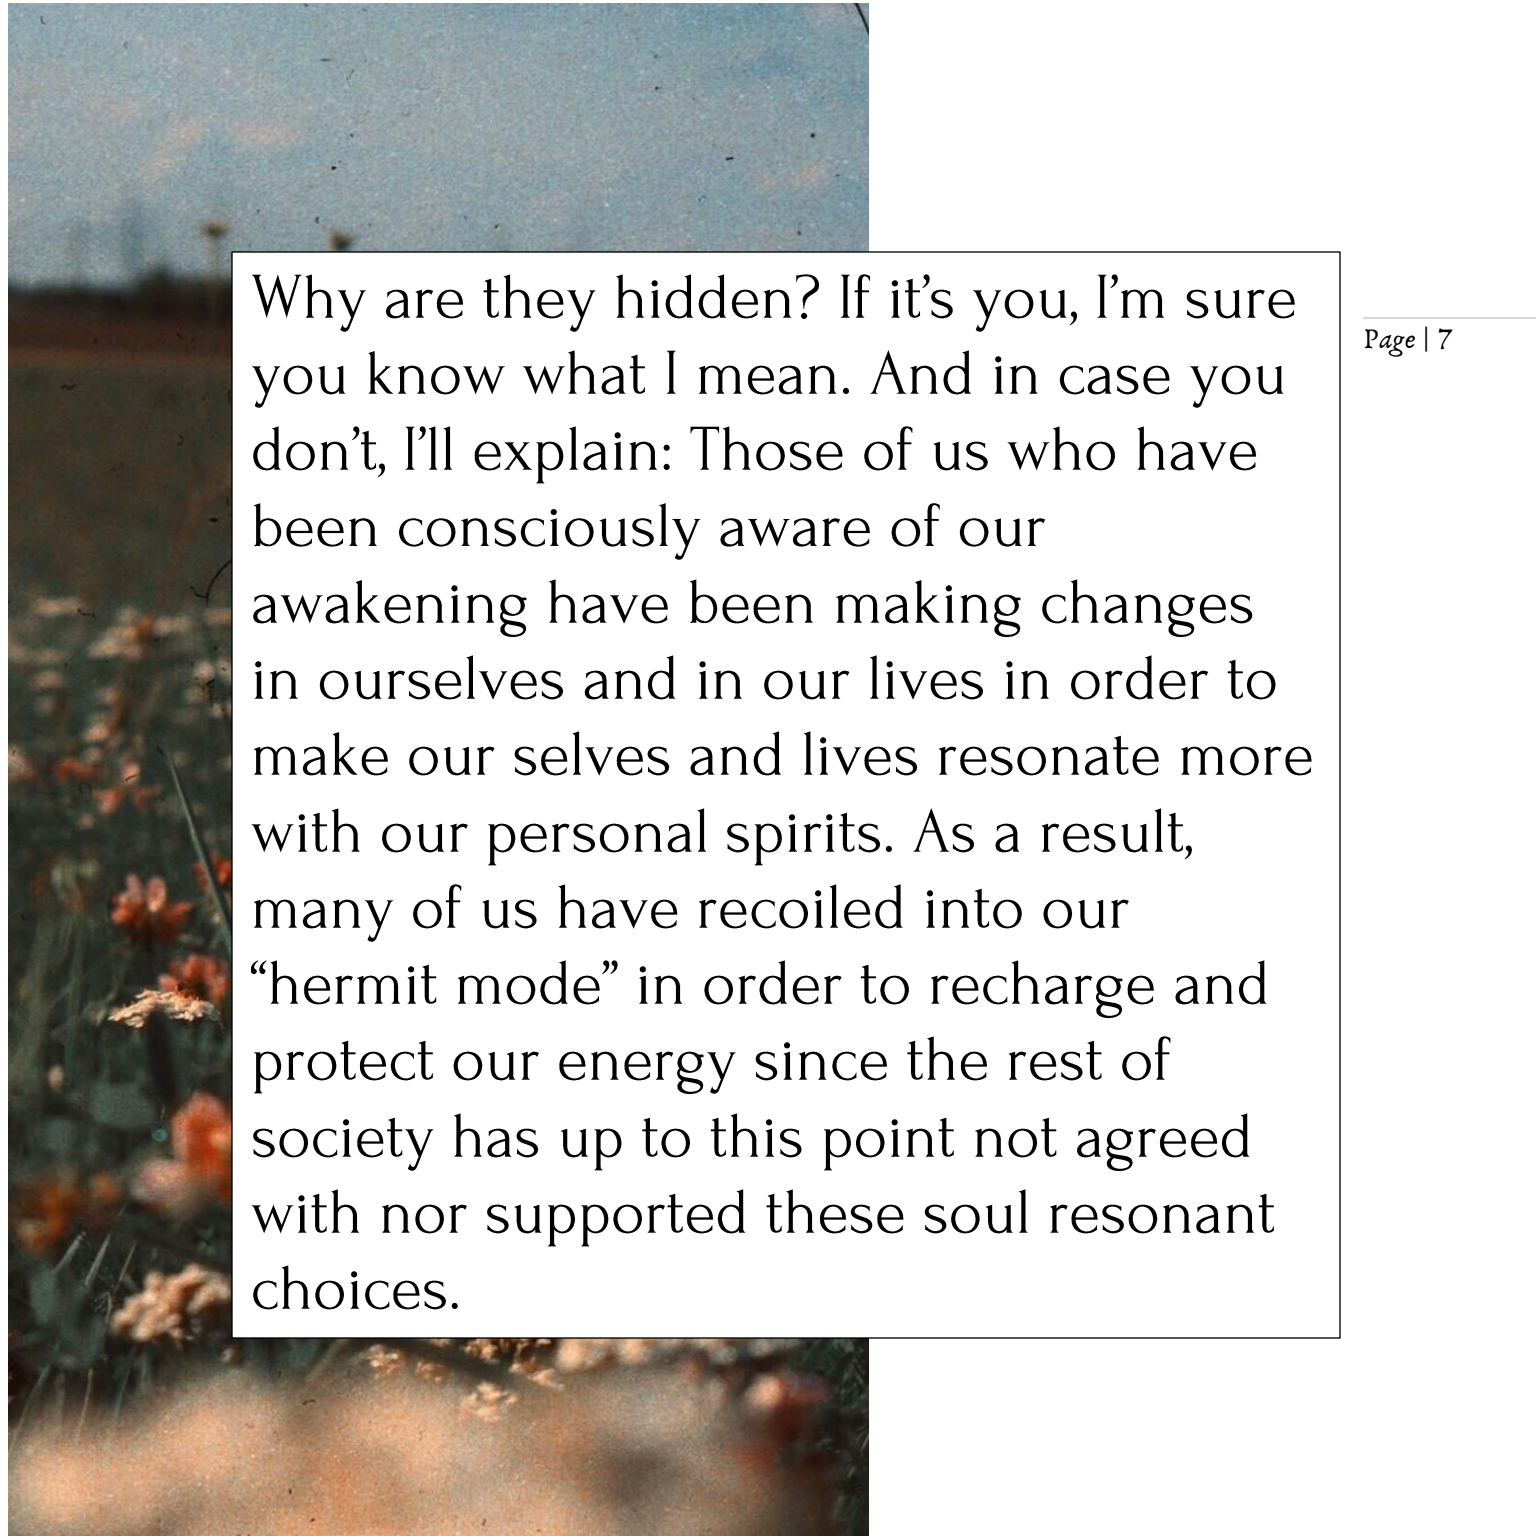

Read this report for a full explanation of the energetic impact you have on your community, and the world, by getting out of your house and interacting with the world, as love.

The Hidden Archetypes

The Hidden Archetypes

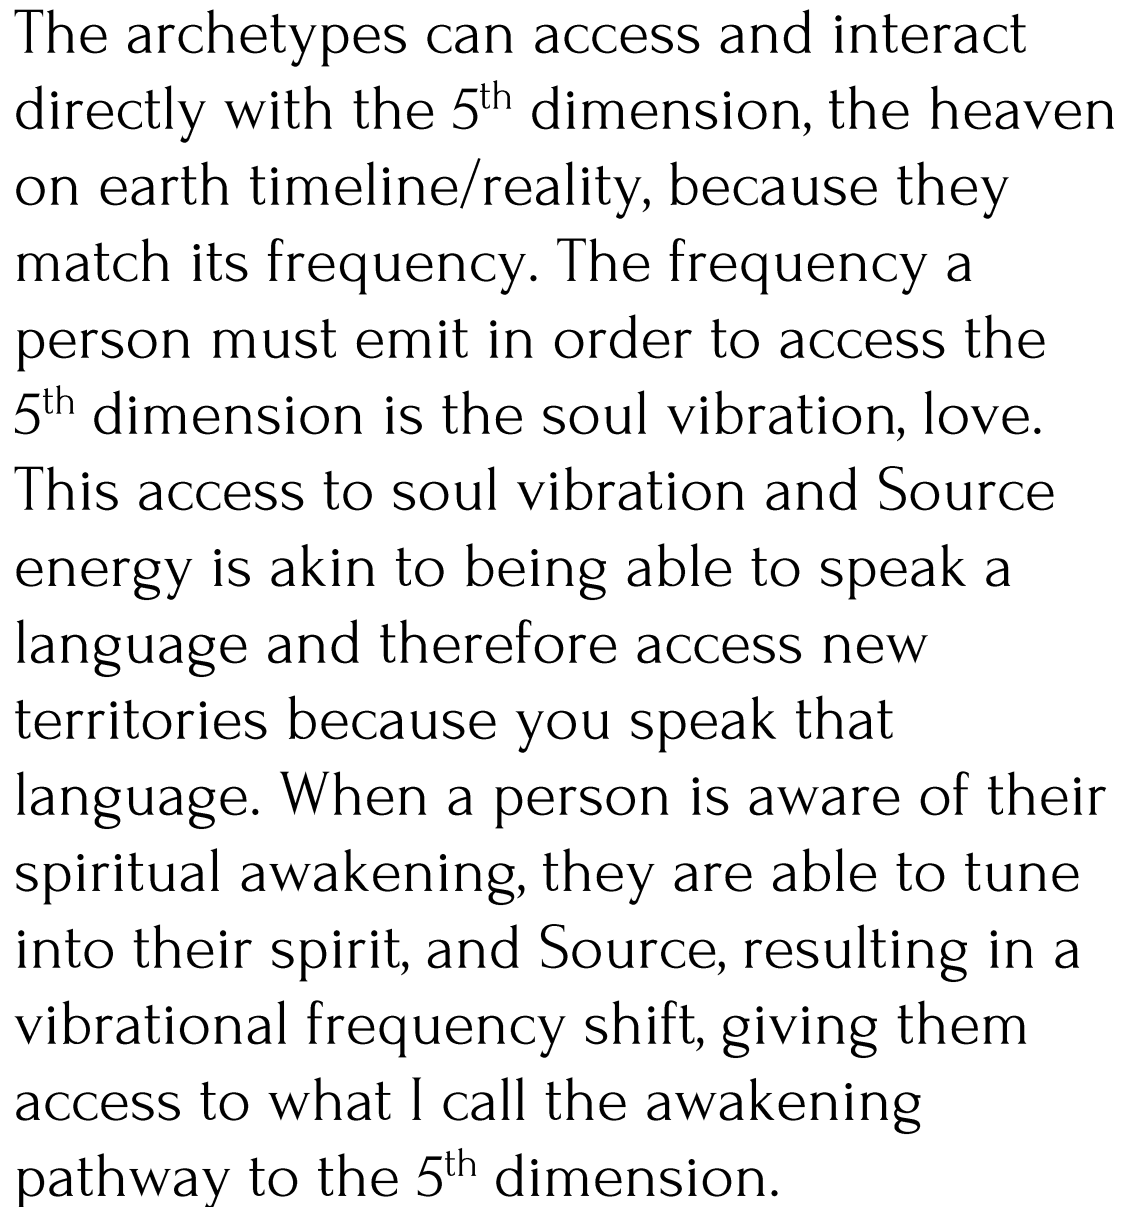

The hidden archetypes are those who are conscious of their spiritual awakening as it occurs. These beings, whom I will refer as the archetypes, have direct access to their soul vibration, and therefore, to Source energy.

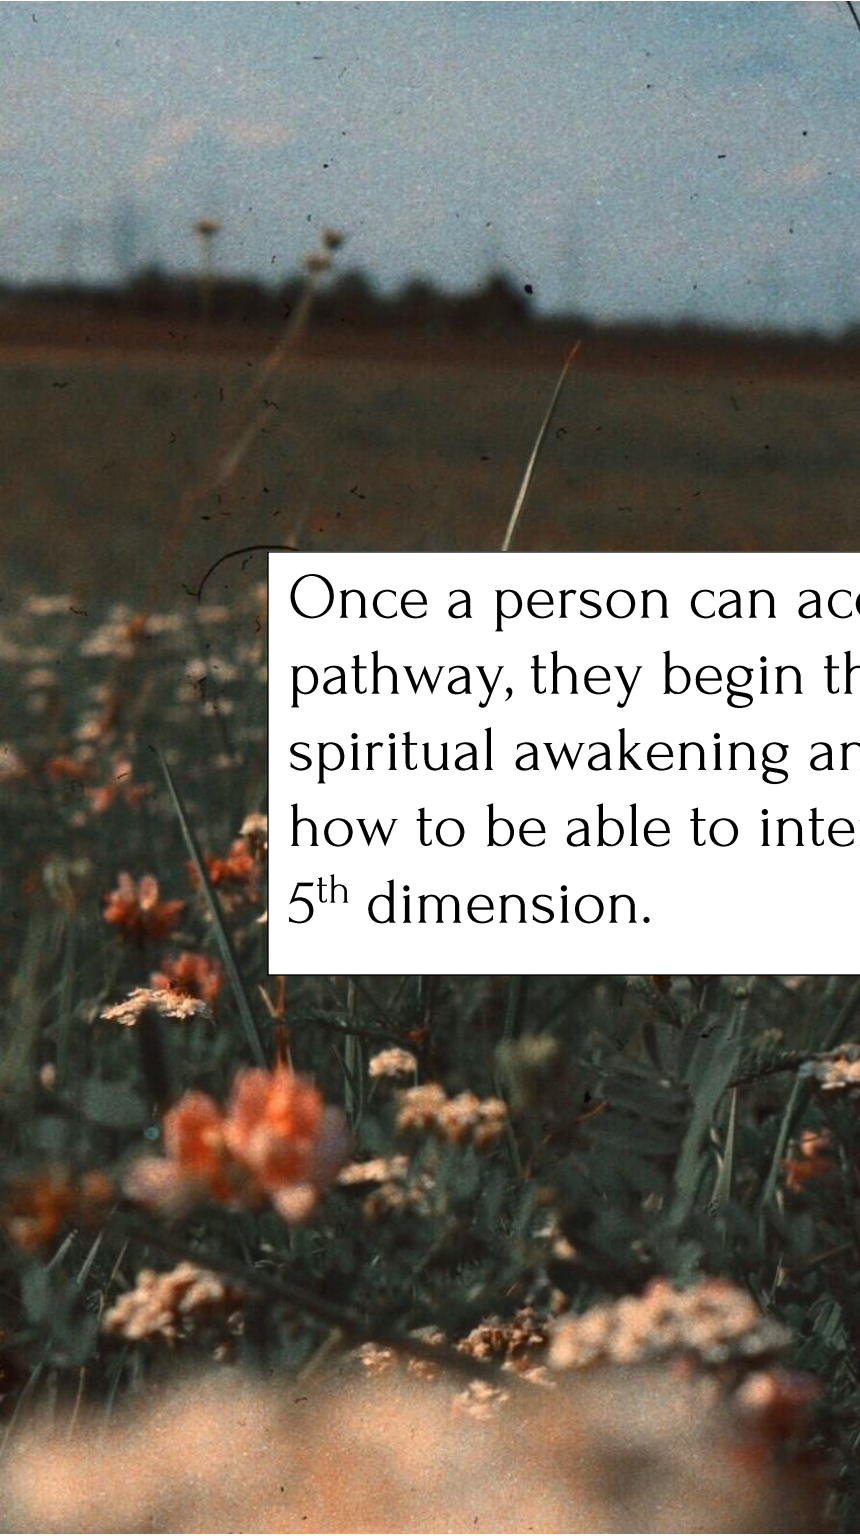

Why are they hidden? If it's you, I'm sure you know what I mean. And in case you don't, I'll explain: Those of us who have been consciously aware of our awakening have been making changes in ourselves and in our lives in order to make our selves and lives resonate more with our personal spirits. As a result, many of us have recoiled into our "hermit mode" in order to recharge and protect our energy since the rest of society has up to this point not agreed with nor supported these soul resonant choices.

A photograph of a field of orange and yellow flowers under a blue sky. The flowers are in the foreground, and the sky is in the background. The image has a slightly grainy texture.

The aligning of one's life and personal vibrational frequency with the frequency of the soul is the act of being on the awakening path.

The archetypes can access and interact directly with the 5th dimension, the heaven on earth timeline/reality, because they match its frequency. The frequency a person must emit in order to access the 5th dimension is the soul vibration, love. This access to soul vibration and Source energy is akin to being able to speak a language and therefore access new territories because you speak that language. When a person is aware of their spiritual awakening, they are able to tune into their spirit, and Source, resulting in a vibrational frequency shift, giving them access to what I call the awakening pathway to the 5th dimension.

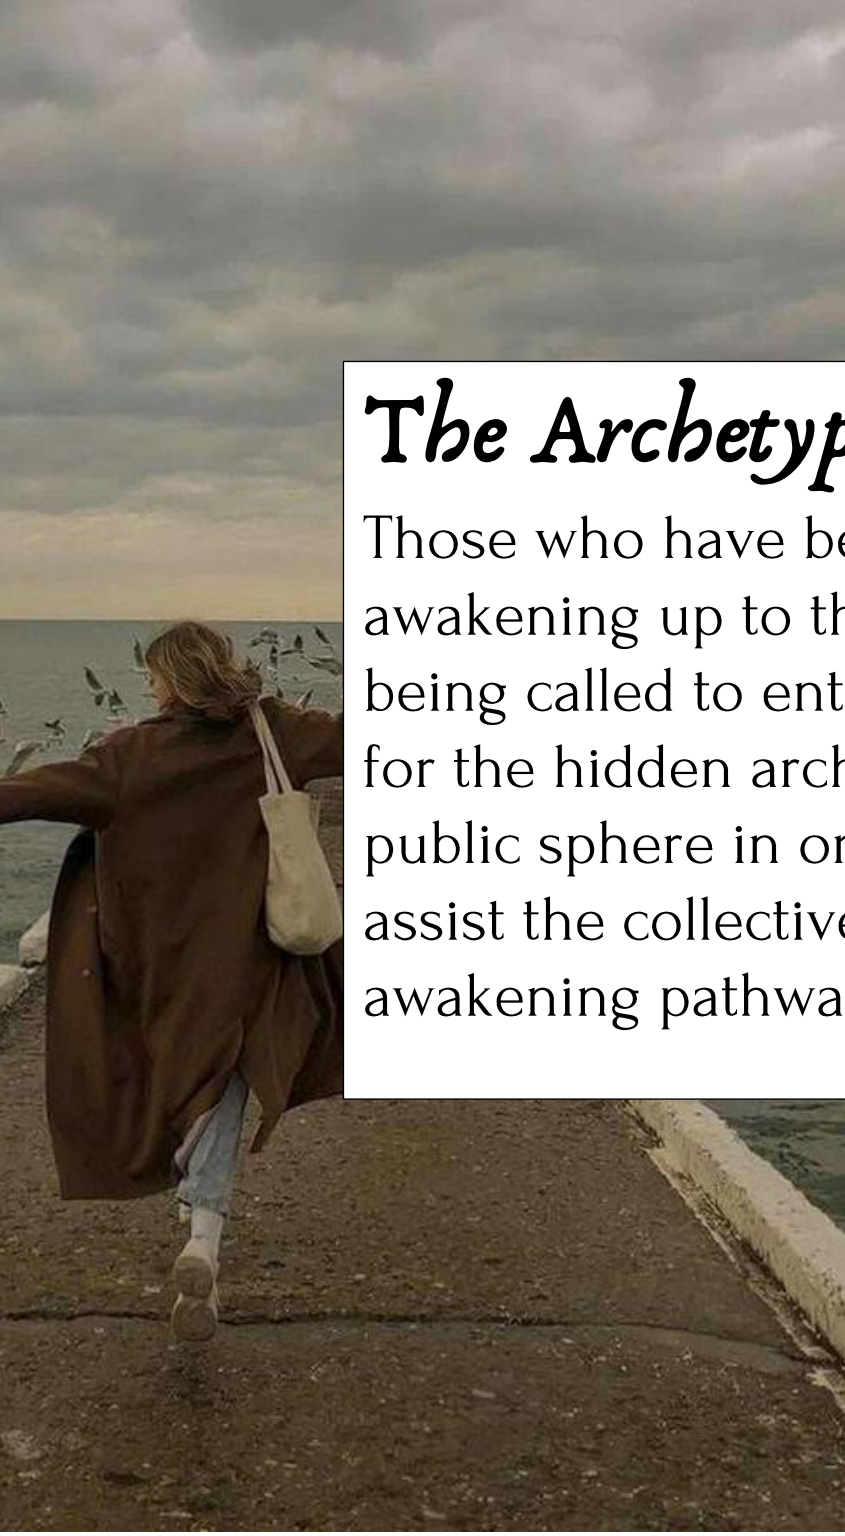

Once a person can access the awakening pathway, they begin their conscious spiritual awakening and begin to learn how to be able to interact directly with the 5th dimension.

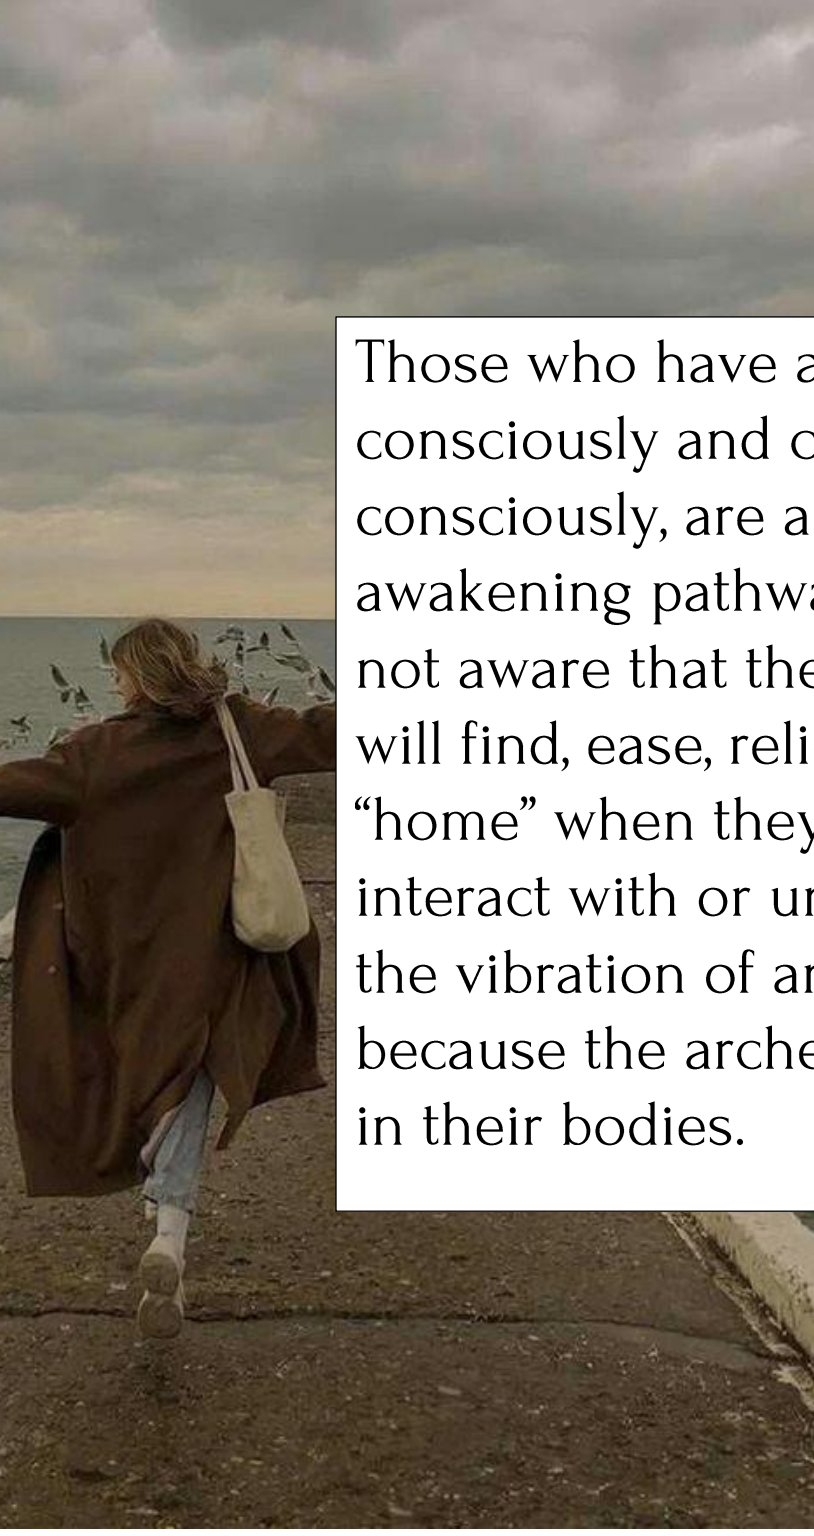

A woman with blonde hair, wearing a long brown coat and light blue jeans, is running away from the camera on a concrete pier. She has her arms outstretched towards a large flock of seagulls flying in the air. The sky is overcast and grey, and the ocean is visible in the background. The scene is captured from a low angle, emphasizing the woman's movement and the vastness of the sky.

The Archetype Reveal

The Archetype Reveal

Those who have been consciously awakening up to this point are now being called to enter society. It's time for the hidden archetypes to enter the public sphere in order to continue to assist the collective in finding the awakening pathway.

A woman with blonde hair, wearing a long brown coat and light blue jeans, is walking away from the camera on a beach. She has a white tote bag slung over her shoulder. The sky is overcast and grey, and many birds are flying in the air around her. The ground is dark and appears to be a mix of sand and pebbles.

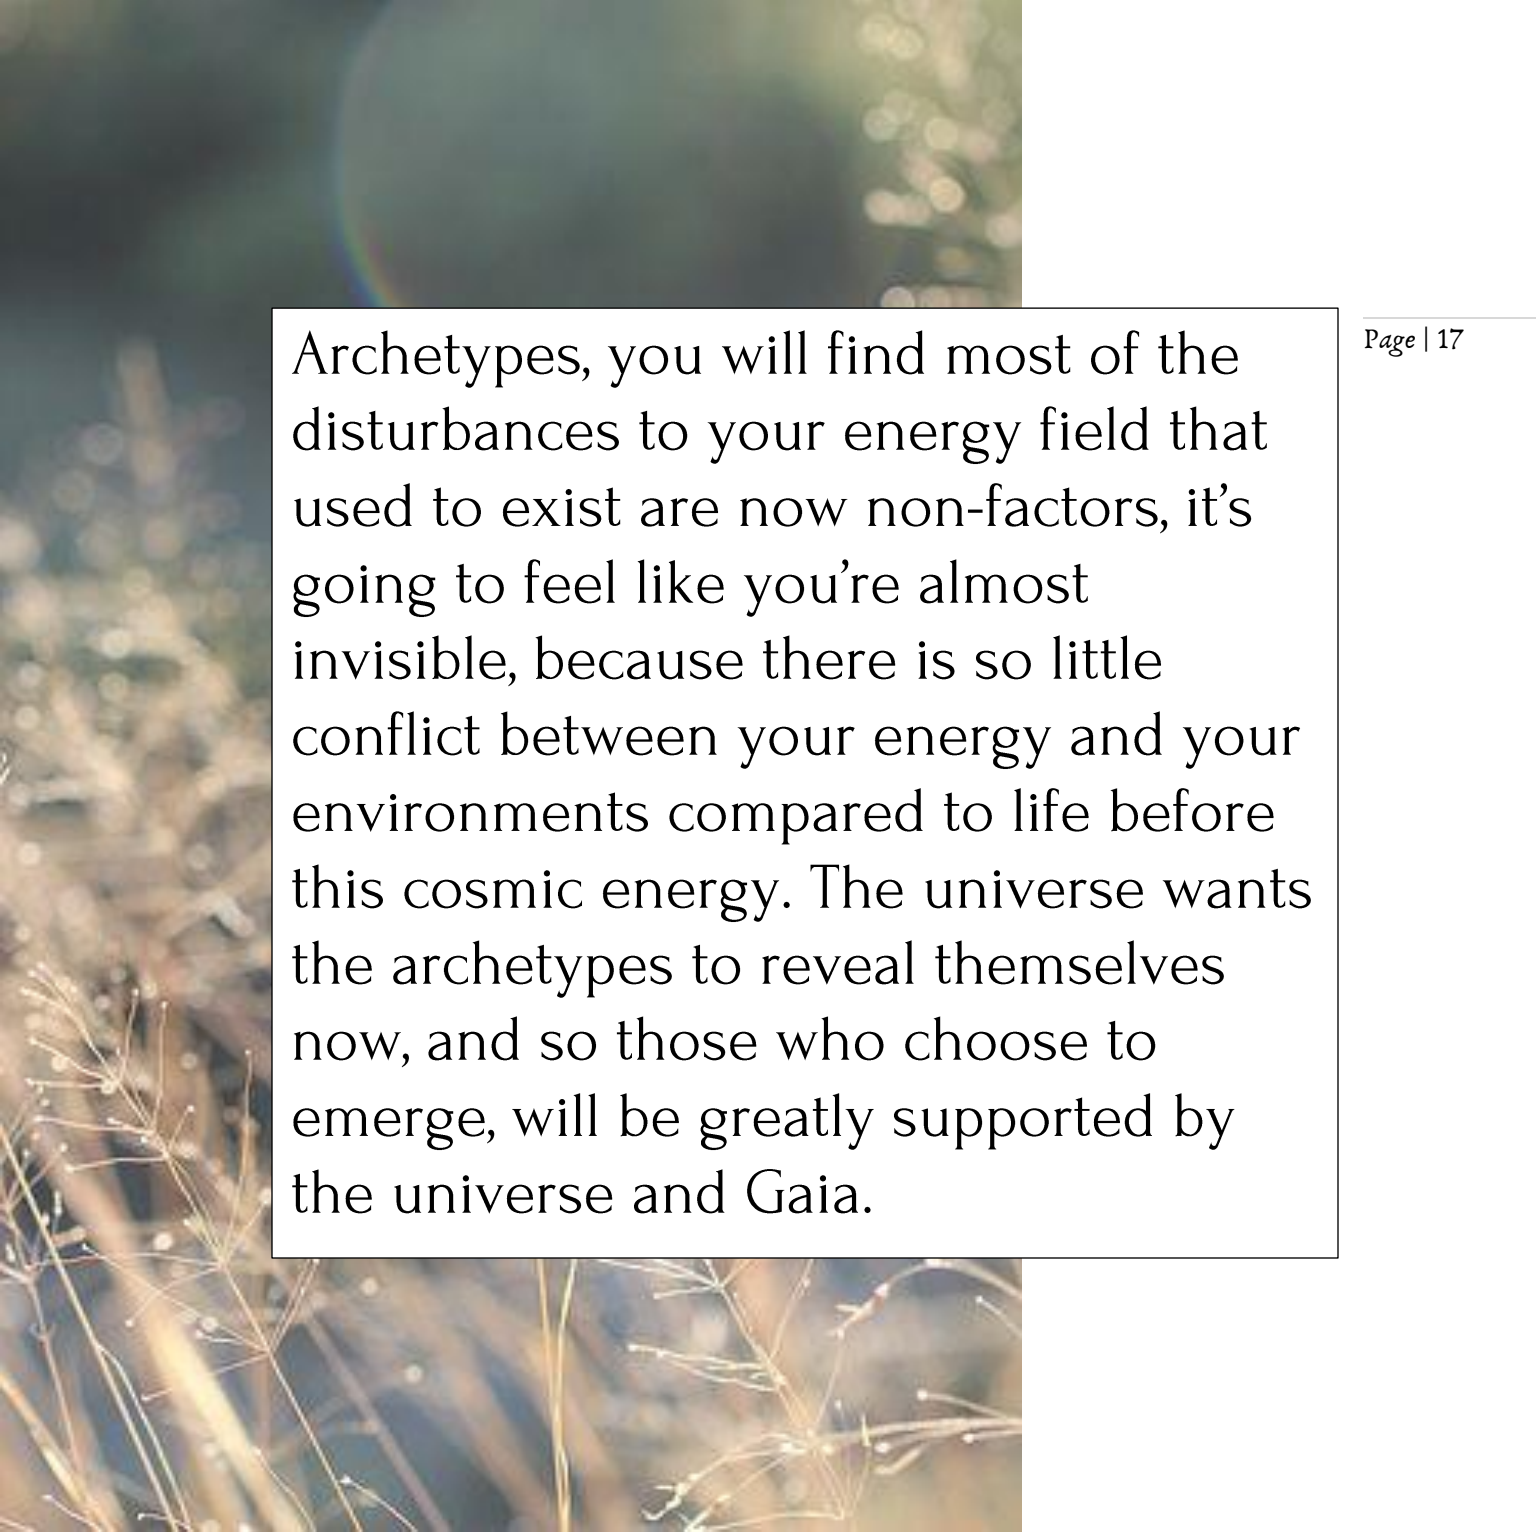

Those who have already awakened consciously and continue to awaken consciously, are already on the awakening pathway. Those who are not aware that they are awakening will find, ease, relief, and a feeling of “home” when they consciously interact with or unconsciously sense the vibration of an archetype, because the archetypes are at home in their bodies.

The Archetype Integration

The Archetype Integration

The distinct difference between how the archetypes will be interacting with reality now compared to before their hermit-mode, is now they have spirit fully integrated into their bodies. Now, in this current cosmic energy, the archetypes are moving as their spirits. Fully-human, with fully embodied spirits. The archetypes have taken the time to align their behavior, thoughts, and lives with their souls, and now as their souls, they emerge into the world.

What's different about reality now for the archetypes, is that when they interact with reality, it won't be the 3rd or 4th dimensions anymore; it's straight-up 5th dimension. The 5th dimension is peaceful and is accessed when one is in alignment with their spirit and anchored into heart consciousness.

Archetypes, you will find most of the disturbances to your energy field that used to exist are now non-factors, it's going to feel like you're almost invisible, because there is so little conflict between your energy and your environments compared to life before this cosmic energy. The universe wants the archetypes to reveal themselves now, and so those who choose to emerge, will be greatly supported by the universe and Gaia.

The Archetype Pathways

The path that each archetype has taken in order to be in the frequency of the 5th dimension is now a pathway that others can follow to access the 5th dimension. The archetypes are like the first ones to arrive to 5D, and they left a trail of breadcrumbs behind for the rest of humanity to find it too.

These “breadcrumbs” exist as the remnants of the pathway that the archetype has taken. As I have told many of you in sessions in the past, as you move forward along your divine pathways, no matter how zig-zag it may seem, once you get to the 5th dimensional frequency within yourself, when you turn around to observe your pathway you will notice it’s a straight line. And that straight line is what others can follow to meet you in 5D.

The frequency that is coming off of you is your vibration and it can be felt by others, whether they're aware of it or not. Some will be called to be in a similar geographic location as you, and although they may never interact with you nor even see you, they will feel your vibration, and it will inform them. Once they get a taste of the 5th dimensional breadcrumbs coming from your vibration, if they choose to consciously awaken, then they will gain access to a swifter awakening via the pathway you have laid.

This is why it's so important for the archetypes to re-enter society in this time. There are others who are destined to interact with your frequency, and your frequency is their key to 5D... even if they never meet you.

How could your vibration offer another the pathway to awakening without you even being in the same place at the same time as them? The answer: portals.

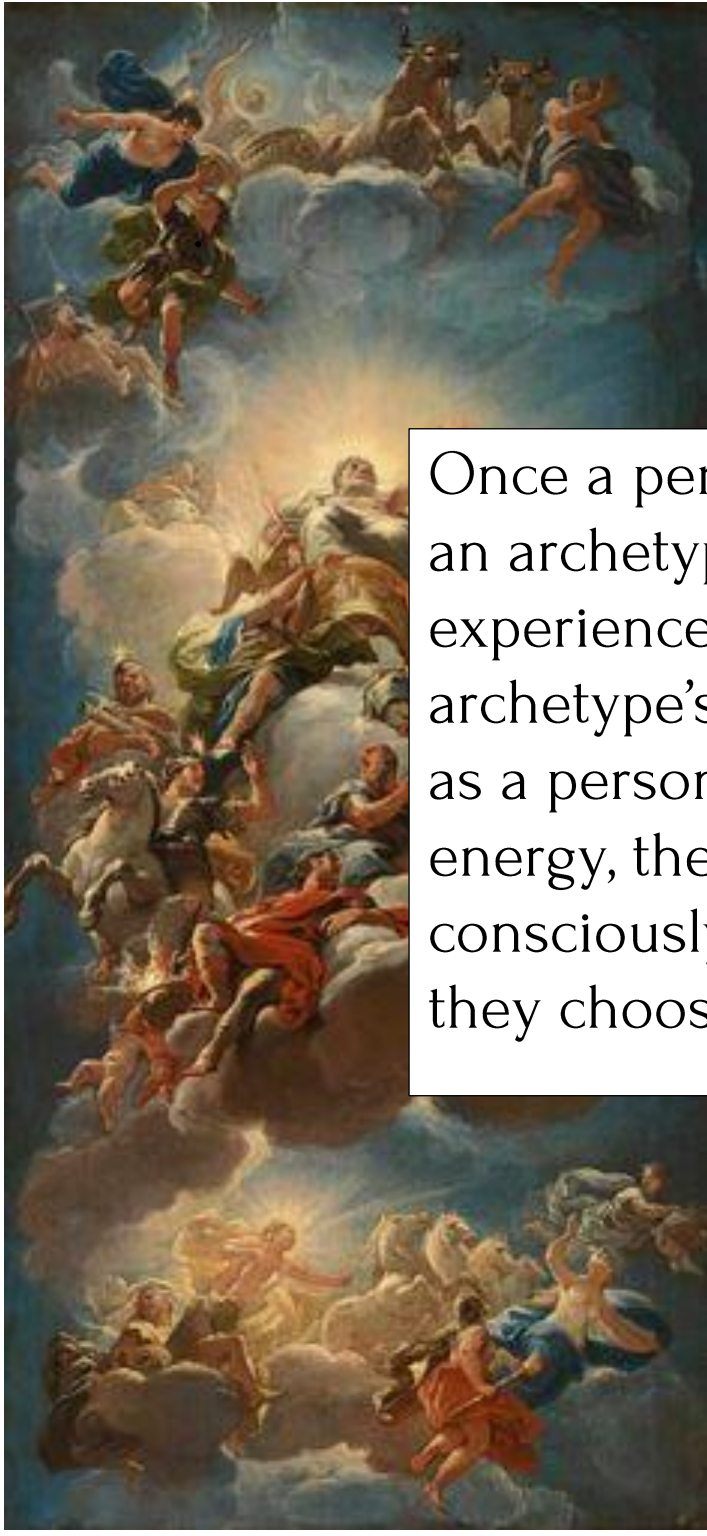

The Archetype Portals

The Archetype Portals

Wherever an archetype goes, when they interact with reality, they are interacting with the 5th dimensional version of reality. The 5th dimensional aspects of reality were previously “dormant” until activated by the archetype with their vibration. Once the archetype has activated the 5th dimensional energy in a location, even after the archetype leaves, the 5th dimensional energy remains. This creates a portal for other people to potentially interact with the 5th dimension with more ease.

A vertical strip of a classical painting, likely a detail from a larger work. It depicts a dramatic scene with several figures on clouds and horses. The figures are rendered in a dynamic, almost chaotic manner, with strong contrasts of light and shadow. The background is a deep, dark blue, suggesting a night sky or a vast, open space. The overall composition is highly detailed and expressive.

Once a person has interacted with an archetype's portal, they have experienced the frequency of the archetype's awakening path. As soon as a person has tapped into this energy, they have the opportunity to consciously awaken their selves if they choose to do so.

Not everyone will spontaneously awaken when they interact with a portal. Sometimes they need to revisit it a few times to fully understand the nuance of the frequency, other times the memory of the frequency becomes a “seed” planted in their consciousness, so that when they are ready to awaken, they have internalized the portal energy and can utilize it to spark their activation of the awakening path.

And so, wherever you go, when you're vibrating 5th dimensional energy, it's contagious, even after you leave.

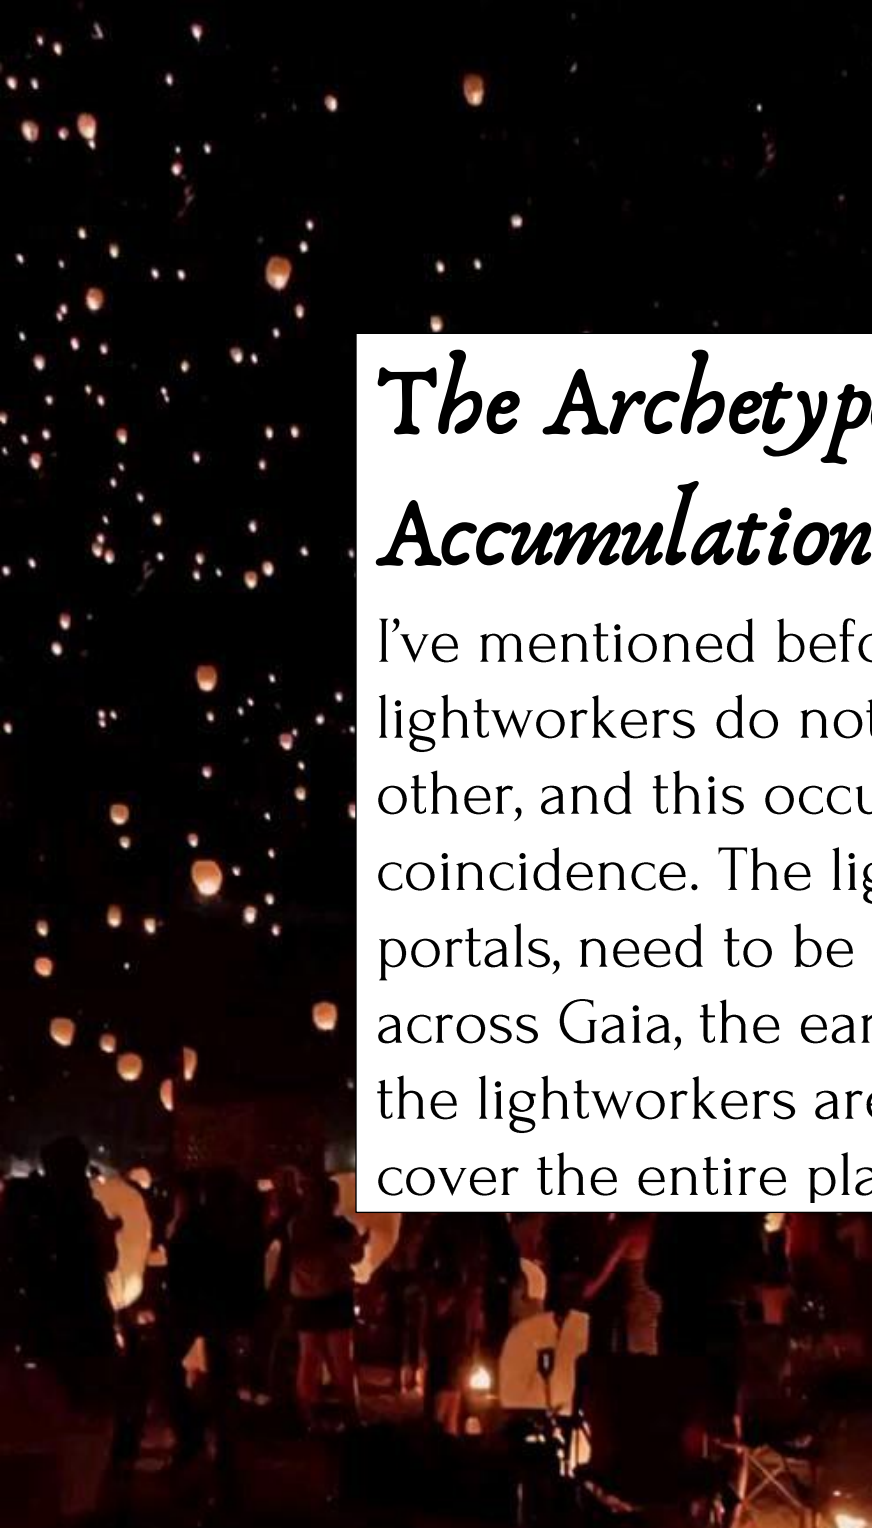

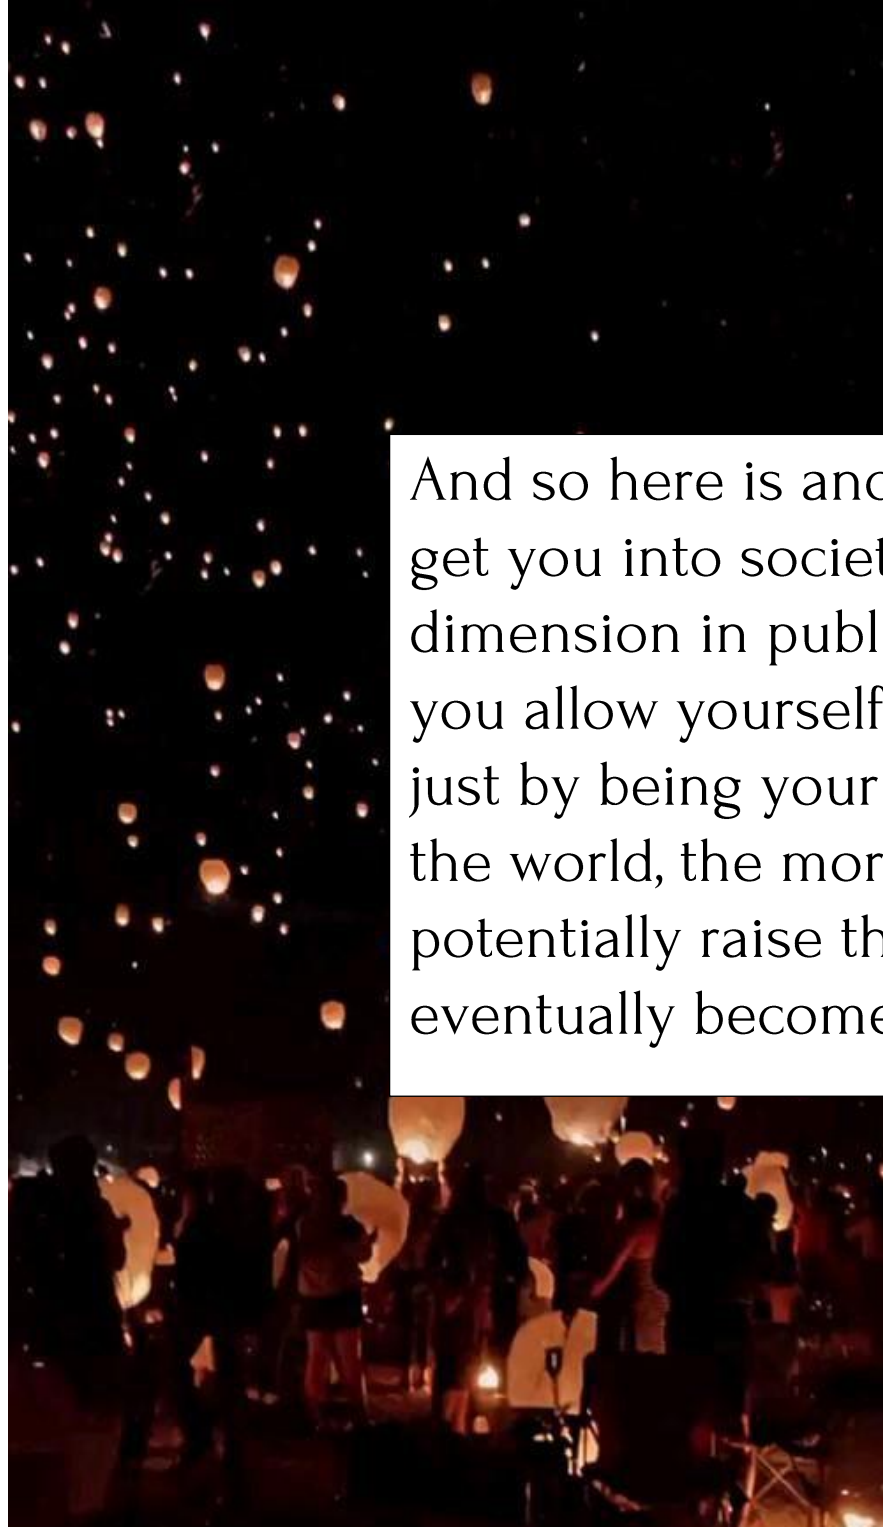

The Archetype Accumulation

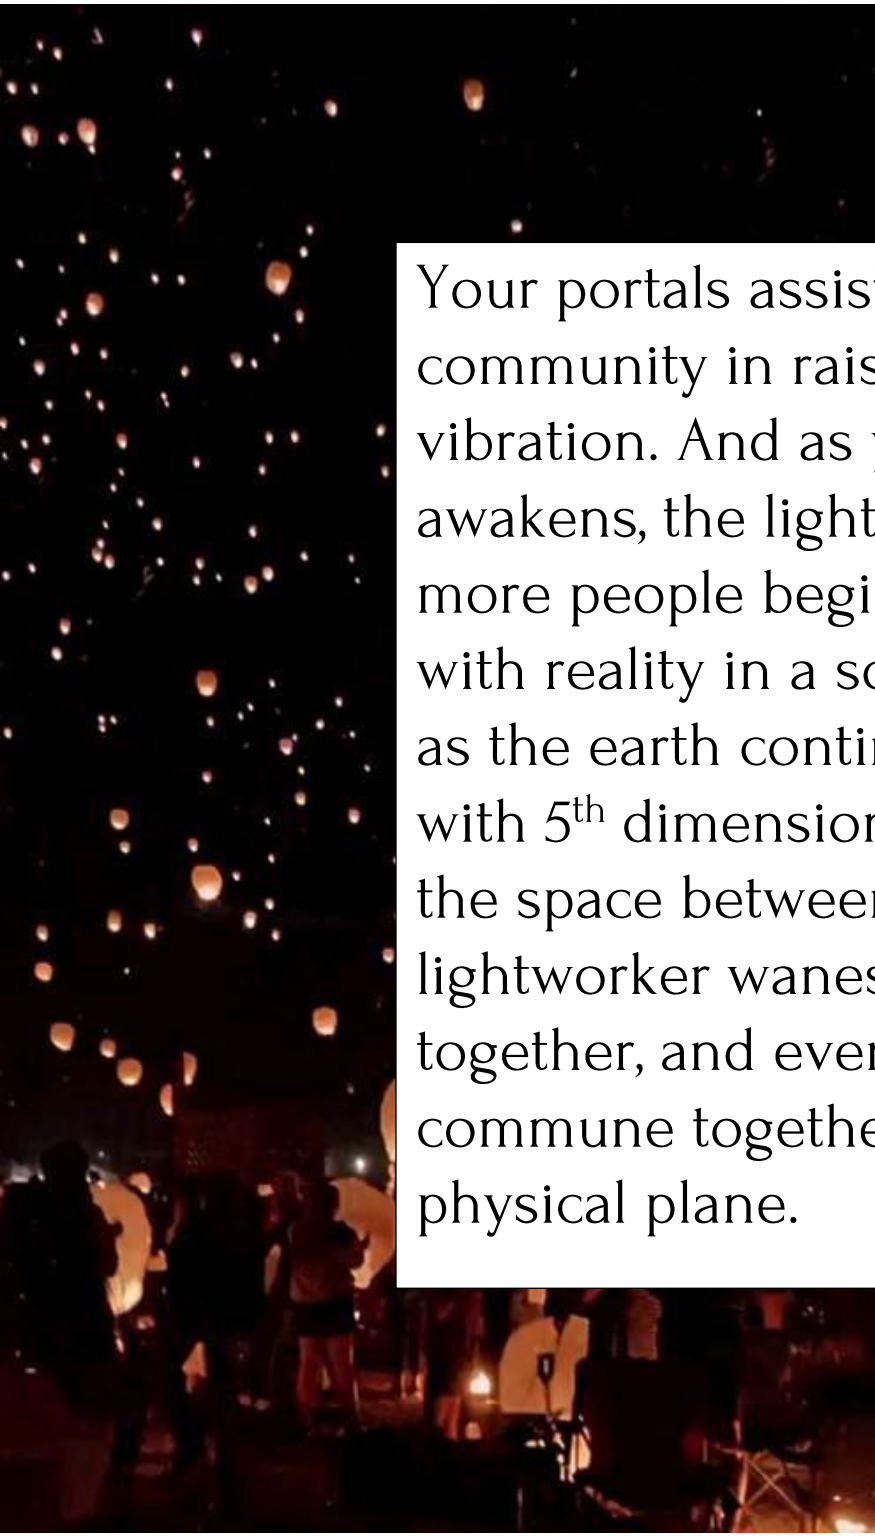

The Archetype Accumulation

I've mentioned before that most lightworkers do not live near each other, and this occurrence is not a coincidence. The light, the 5D portals, need to be spread equally across Gaia, the earth plane. And so, the lightworkers are spread out to cover the entire plane.

And so here is another motivator to get you into society, activating the 5th dimension in public: the more portals you allow yourself to naturally open just by being your soulful self out in the world, the more people will potentially raise their vibration to eventually become lightworkers too.

Your portals assist your community in raising their vibration. And as your community awakens, the light spreads, and more people begin interacting with reality in a soulful way. And as the earth continues to activate with 5th dimensional light and love, the space between each lightworker wanes, we get closer together, and eventually we commune together on the physical plane.

THINGS TO BE AWARE OF:

The Contagious Archetype Effect

Involuntary Ascension by Affected Beings

You cannot force a person to awaken. Spirituality is just as private as a person's sexuality. You have no right to pry into someone's spiritual process or experience if they have not willingly invited you into their process.

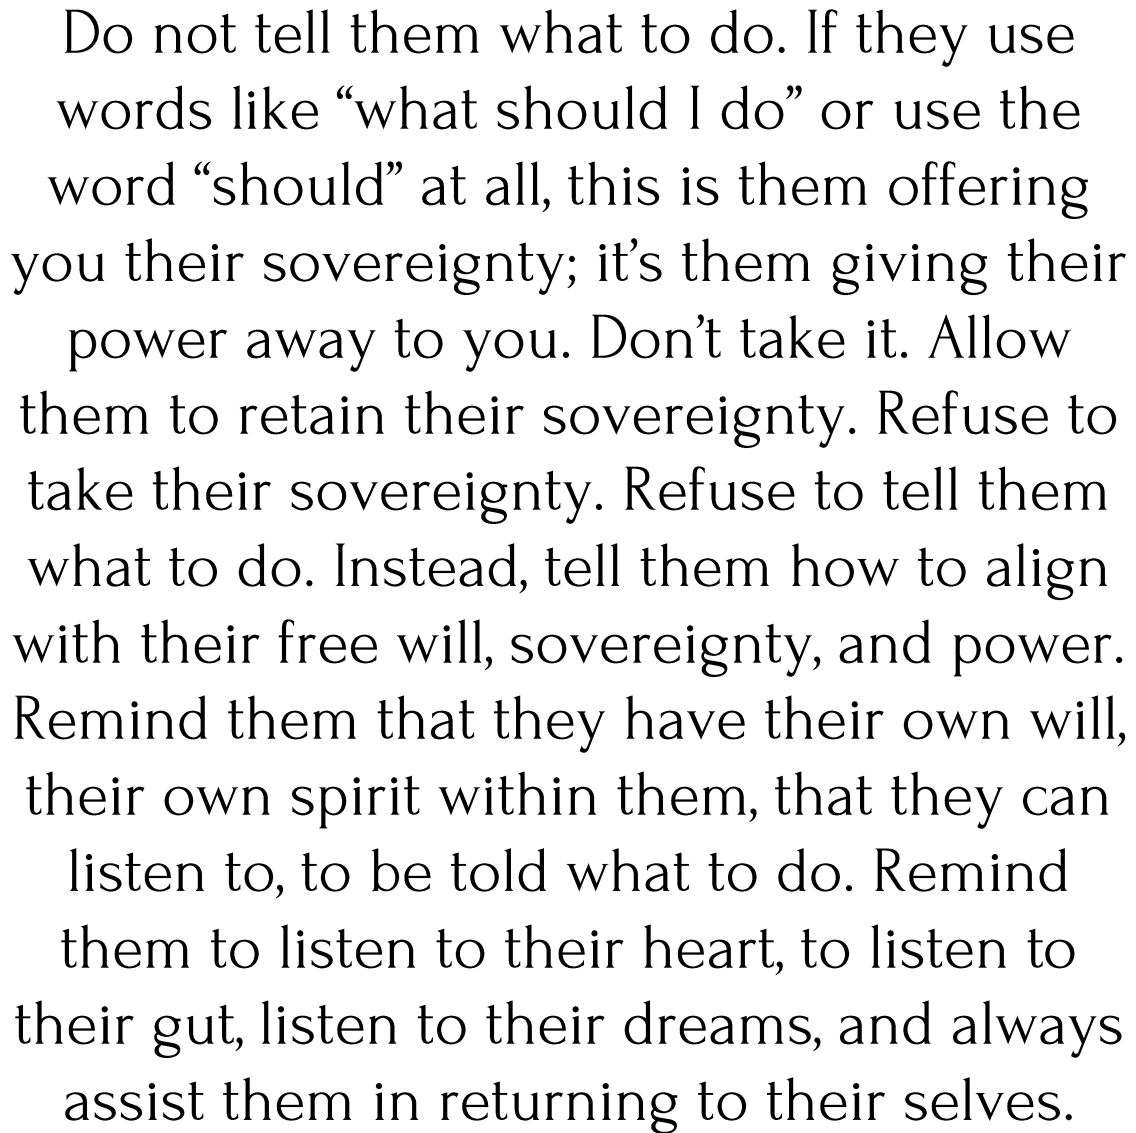

You have no right to try to change or rush a person's spiritual process. Free will is the only activator for the spiritual awakening, and no person can rush another's free will, for that is in fact manipulation and coercion. Some personalities are so against being told what to do, and are so against people invading into their private spiritual space and practice, that a well-meaning person could offer "good" spiritual advice to them, that they were already going to do, but because someone told them to, they change their mind; meaning, if you offer someone unsolicited spiritual advice you could delay their awakening.

The difference between being inspiring and being a cult leader.

In this time, many will feel “at home” in the presence of your energy. Being integrated with one’s spirit feels like home, and that vibration is coming off of you. You may present to others as confident, kind, and comfortable, and they may admire this and come to you for advice.

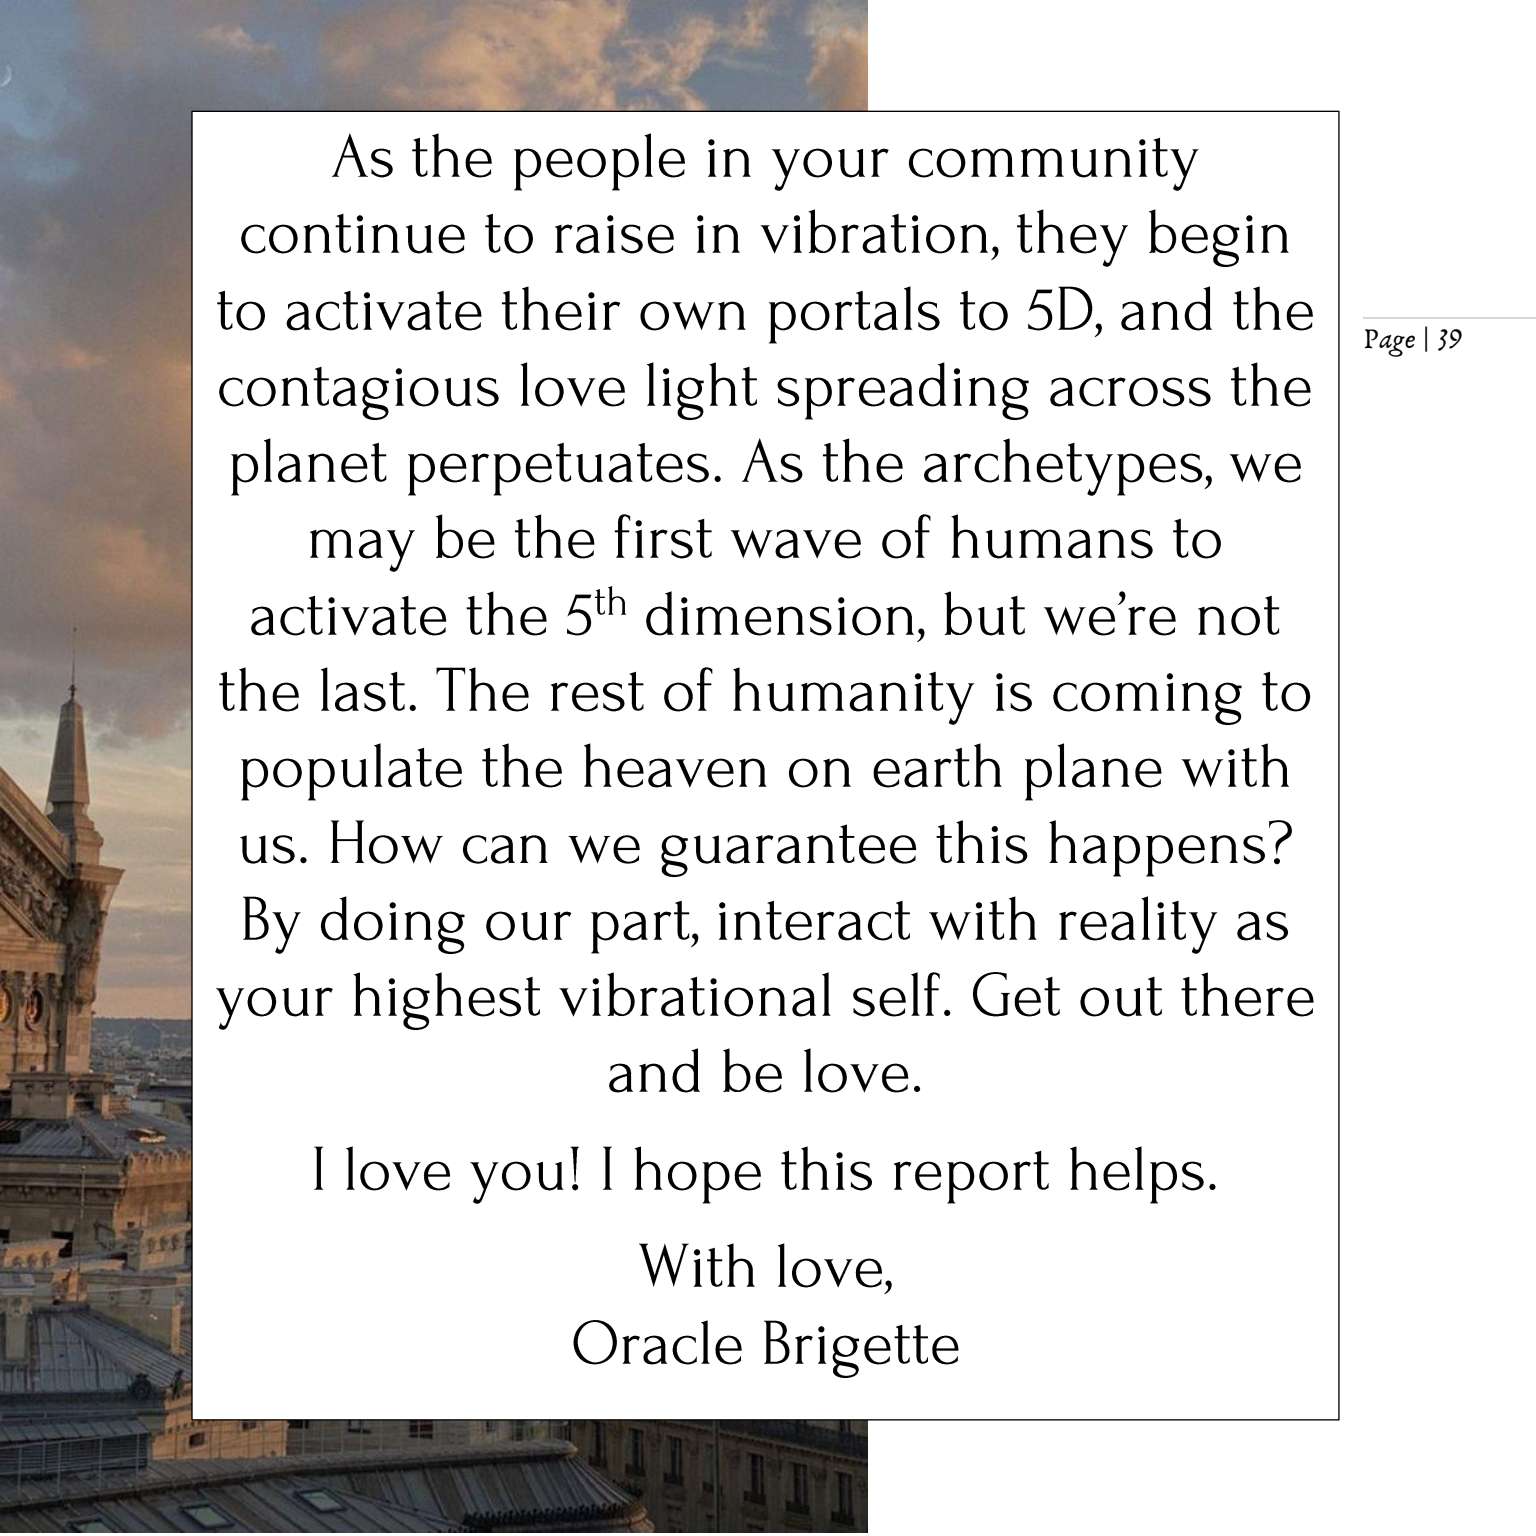

Do not tell them what to do. If they use words like “what should I do” or use the word “should” at all, this is them offering you their sovereignty; it’s them giving their power away to you. Don’t take it. Allow them to retain their sovereignty. Refuse to take their sovereignty. Refuse to tell them what to do. Instead, tell them how to align with their free will, sovereignty, and power. Remind them that they have their own will, their own spirit within them, that they can listen to, to be told what to do. Remind them to listen to their heart, to listen to their gut, listen to their dreams, and always assist them in returning to their selves.

A cult leader will do the opposite. A cult leader will tell them what they should do, taking their power and sovereignty away, activating a co-dependent energy vampire dynamic. A cult leader wouldn't empower a person to think and feel for themselves, a cult leader would manipulate a person into submitting their power of thinking and feeling over to them. Don't be a cult leader. Hold a space for others where they feel powerful, where they feel they can retain their sovereignty, and where they can learn that they have the sole power to activate their spiritual awakening through aligning with their own spirit (not yours).

love today;
love tomorrow

old keys won't open new doors.

As the people in your community continue to raise in vibration, they begin to activate their own portals to 5D, and the contagious love light spreading across the planet perpetuates. As the archetypes, we may be the first wave of humans to activate the 5th dimension, but we're not the last. The rest of humanity is coming to populate the heaven on earth plane with us. How can we guarantee this happens? By doing our part, interact with reality as your highest vibrational self. Get out there and be love.

I love you! I hope this report helps.

With love,
Oracle Brigitte
